The Claims Commission.

WASHINGTON, January 19.—The French and American Claims Commission met today. A decision was rendered in the case of Wiltz, administrator of Delrin, vs. the United States, No. 313, disallowing the claim. The question raised in this case was whether an administrator could prosecute a claim without disclosing the parties beneficially interested. It was held that they must be set forth, and that in order to recover under the treaty claimant must have been a French citizen at the time the loss occurred and a French citizen at the time the treaty was made in 1880. The French commissioner dissented in an opinion of some length. Counsel for France then moved that judgment be suspended for twenty days, to enable parties interested, personal representatives of Delrin, to show, if they can, that they are French citizens, which motion the Commissioner granted, as the same question was raised in the case of Sigismund Roman vs. the United States, No. 533. The Commission rendered a similar decision in that case upon the same grounds. French counsel moved that the decision of demurrer in the case of Dutrieux vs. the United States, No. 324, be deferred for ten days to enable private counsel in the case of Waller, et al., vs. United States, No. 681, to file a brief, as both cases turn upon the same question of law. The motion was granted and Commission adjourned to meet on Wednesday, January 20, 1882.

The opinion of the French Commissioner and United States Commissioner in Wiltz case will be printed in a few days. The following notice has just been issued by the representative of France: "The agent for the government of the French Republic begs to inform parties interested that the term fixed by article 8, section 2, of the convention of January 14th, 1880, for the disposition of cases is the two years from the day of the first meeting of the Commissioners for business, viz: from December 23d, 1880, and that there is no indication that the time will be extended; consequently, parties interested are requested to take necessary measures to complete their cases as soon as possible, in order that they may be submitted to the Commissioners for their judgment and thus avoid the crowding of cases at the last moment, which might render it impossible for the Commissioners to pass upon them within the time limited."

GRIMAUD DE CAUX.

A Panic. LONDON, January 19.—There were two failures on the Lyons bourse yesterday: aggregate liabilities, £100,000. A Paris dispatch says: "The Standard says: just before the bourse closed, Union Generale shares, which were largely held, fell 225 francs, and produced a panic."

A Paris dispatch to the Times says: Although the bourse payments were effected it must not be supposed that all is right again. It is evident that many engagements were tied over which may yet prove ruinous.

The Small-Pox.

CHICAGO, January 19.—Dr. DeWolf, Health Commissioner of this city, says that unless the people protect themselves by vaccination, small-pox will be rampant here, and not a woman or child will be safe.

SENATE.
WASHINGTON, January 19.—On motion of Mr. Davis, of Illinois, the bill to permit Judge Hunt, of the Supreme Court, to retire was taken up and passed—yeas, 41; nays, 11.

At 1:35 the Sherman Funding Bill was taken up and Mr. Saulsbury took the floor. After an ineffectual effort by Mr. Ingalls to secure an arrangement for a test vote on the bill to-day, discussion of the Funding Bill was continued by Mr. Windom against the bill, and Mr. Hall, of Georgia, who charged that the operations of Secretary Windom in continuing the 5's and 6's at 3 1/2 per cent. was unconstitutional.

Mr. Hawley, a member of the Committee on Railroads, moved to recommend that committee bill ratifying the action of the General Council of the Choctaw Nation granting to the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company right-of-way for a railroad and telegraph line through that nation. He said that the official protest of the Chickasaw Nation and other documents submitted since the bill was placed on the calendar had not been before the committee, and he thought the measure should be considered under the new light thus thrown upon it. The motion met with considerable opposition, particularly from Senators Maxey and Cocke, on the ground of delay to the bill through losing its place on the calendar. To meet this objection Mr. Hawley modified his motion so as to provide that when again reported the bill should be restored to its present place on the calendar, and, so modified, the motion was agreed to.

Reading a motion for an executive session the bill was laid aside. The executive session was held at 4 p. m. At 4:30 p. m. the Senate, by a vote of 20 to 25, adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.

Bills were reported from the Committee on Claims to refund to the State of Georgia certain money contributed by that State for the common defense in 1777.

House Calendar bill was also reported from the Committee on Naval Affairs for the purchase of a lot of ground for Gosport navy yards. Referred to Committee of the Whole.

The House resumed consideration of the report of the Committee on Rules increasing the membership of committees, and consumed the greater part of the day's session in its discussion, in which Robeson was made a target for much good-humored ridicule.

Several members opposed the amendment offered yesterday by King, of Louisiana, giving to the Committee on the Improvement of the Mississippi River the same right to report appropriation bills for that purpose as the Committee on Appropriations now has. Finally King withdrew the amendment, giving reasons, however, that he would watch the Committee on Commerce, to see how it promises now made to consider fairly the needs of the Mississippi Valley would be kept.

Randall, favoring a proposition to increase committee membership, said the growth of business in Congress had kept pace with the growth of all the interests of the country, and five of the inmates perished, Elizabeth Smith and Rachael, each aged 13, Ella, aged 6, Theodore, aged 16, and the mother, aged 43. The fire is supposed to have started from a coal oil explosion, when she aroused her husband, who made his escape with a little girl of a neighbor who was staying there for the night and one of his own daughters, aged about 8 years. Smith and daughter were seriously burned.

The Guiteau Trial.

WASHINGTON, January 19.—When the court opened this morning, Guiteau made his usual speech, and called attention to the recent decision of the New York Court of Appeals, and said, in the name of the American people and American judiciary, he desired to thank the gentlemen of the Court of Appeals.

Mr. Scoville resumed his argument, and complained that the prosecution failed to call Detective McElfresh because the evidence would have been of service to the prisoner, and also charged the prosecution with unfairness all through the trial.

Passing the Vetoed Bill.

RICHMOND, VA., January 19.—The Senate today passed a bill to ratify and confirm the consolidation of the Richmond & Southern Railway Company with the Virginia Railway Company, under the name of the Richmond & Louisville Railroad Company. This is the bill vetoed a few days since by the Governor. The objectionable features set forth in the veto message having been eliminated, the bill, having previously passed the House, now goes back to Governor Cameron.

In one case twenty sections out of one hundred and twenty were proven to belong to other surveys, but the company declined to make the correction, and an investigation of the county records showed that the road had hypothecated the twenty sections at $1.50 an acre. There is no authority to correct these surveys lodged in any State or county office.

WHAT THE TRIAL HAS COST.

Fifty Thousand Dollars Expended in the Prosecution of Guiteau.

The government has been put to a great expense to prosecute the assassin, and the costs of the trial have been estimated to exceed $50,000. It cannot be definitely learned what Judge Porter and Mr. Davidge are to receive for their services as special prosecuting officers, but from the hints thrown out it is believed that their fees will not be exaggerated when placed at $15,000 each. Including Saturday next in the days of trial it will bring the pay of the jurors up to $1,408. In addition to this comes the hotel board bill, which, it is presumed, will not exceed $3.50 per day per man. With this must also be included the three bailiffs in attendance upon the jurors. This figures up the handsome sum of $12,213 to be paid to the proprietors of the National Hotel. For witnesses, including mileage, there has been paid out $8,078.85. Of this sum $3,788.50 was paid in behalf of the government and $4,290.35 went to the defendant, and of the latter $280.35 went to the Guiteau family and their connections. For reporting and printing the trial and papers used in the case preparatory to the hearing, it is estimated that $5,000 will be required; for seven Deputy Marshals used in the halls and the chamber $1,502 will be necessary. Then there are the miscellaneous expenses to be covered, such as the court room and incidental too numerous to mention, but which it will take about $1,000 to cover, in all making a grand total of $50,000.85. In regard to the payment of expenses, about which so much was said during the trial, it is right to say that they were paid fees and mileage, the same as other witnesses, days and distance only being taken into consideration.

About 5 o'clock Wednesday morning Daniel O'Brien, while under the influence of liquor, entered the Quincy House, at Quincy, Illinois, and began a disturbance.
